"Where was the cash register in the little store that burned?" one of them asked me.

13 HURT IN ELEVATOR FALL

Thirteen persons were seriously injured and narrowly escaped death when an overcrowded elevator crash from the fourth floor to the bottom of the shaft at the Fine Arts Building, 410 S. Michigan avenue.

The passengers, many of whom were women, were panic-stricken when the car stopped with a crash.

The accident was caused by a defective cable. The elevator was recently examined by the city building department.
